

Source: <http://storyful.com/stories/1000011201>

Mars500 finishes 1.5-year 'journey'

From: ESA

A crew of six is due to complete its 'journey' to the red planet as part of the Mars500 simulated mission. You can watch a livestream of the hatch opening below, from 9.45am GMT. Our lead video provides a neat summary of the mission. For a year-and-a-half the six men have been isolated in their interplanetary mockup, simulating a mission and conducting a suite of science experiments, with themselves as the subjects.

We are experiencing some problems with the livestream. It is also available here.

Watch live streaming video from eurospaceagency at livestream.com

From European Space Agency